MEETING THE MOMENT: WHY THIS YEAR'S SUMMIT IS DIFFERENT

Dear Friends,

In "Aubade with Burning City" the poet Ocean Vuong wrote: "and tomorrow... the lights go out." He was writing about the Fall of Saigon, but I feel that same sentiment today about the future of our democracy and the future of women's health and rights. I know many of you feel the same way.

That is why this year's Women's Leadership and Policy Summit is more important than ever. Our theme is Fierce Futures: Rising Together, because only by standing up for each other, uplifting each other, and empowering each other can we secure the future for ourselves, our daughters, and our community.

I hope you will join us in rising to meet this moment in history that we are all facing by becoming a sponsor of this year's summit, perhaps at one level higher than you have in previous years or that you had originally considered. The challenges facing women in our community are many and the resources to meet them are few.

I am so honored to be hosting this signature event for the first time this year. I stand on the shoulders of the giants who have come before me. I look forward to having you join us on this powerful day to learn and engage with a strong community of women and allies.

In community,

ABOUT US

Since 2018, the Women's Leadership and Policy Summit originally hosted by Former County Supervisor Cindy Chavez has brought together hundreds of community leaders and allies to uplift women's issues and drive meaningful change. Past years have focused on issues such as economic empowerment, leadership in nontraditional careers, salary negotiation and pay equity, women's health and emotional well-being, grassroots advocacy, creating inclusive spaces for diverse communities. and more.

The eighth Women's Leadership and Policy Summit will be on October 18, 2025 at San Jose State University from 9:00am to 4:00pm. Enthusiasm for this event continues to grow and we are hoping to expand our participation to over 1,000 participants, including elected officials, business owners, community leaders, and youth advocates. This year's summit will focus on Fierce Futures: Rising Together.

We will once again include workshops led by experts who will inform, engage, and empower attendees to move forward policies that benefit women and families in our county, state, and nation.

The Summit will also focus on Cultural Competence and Inclusivity, Leadership Narratives from Varied Backgrounds, Building Bridges: Collaborative Leadership, Mentorship and Networking Across Cultures, Policy Advocacy and Social Change.
